Please note that some countries have different copyright regulations and may have rules concerning the use of such telephone numbers. Vision: Building connection and safety one call at a time When my child was too young to read or recognize phone numbers, I wondered, "what could he do if there was an emergency and I was not present?" I wanted her to be able to dial for help. I also wanted her to be able to reach out to loved family, friends, and neighbors &amp; build strong connections. I started thinking of how I could enable her to use the phone. I came up with the idea of pattern recognition dialing and discovered that even two-year olds could learn to dial the phone this way! Since then, I have evolved to not only support independence in those who learn differently as well as offer support for those overwhelmed during an emergency. I hope this book brings you, your family, and your community safety and connection. Kind regards, Elke Yellow area - space for your message	✓	*	*	*	✗	Dedicated by Elke Haggerty I dedicate this book to my four precious children. May they always know love and know how to reach out for it. I also dedicate to our husband, John, for his loving support. How to Use the Book: Draw or paste a picture of the person you are comfortable with your child calling in the box. Write one digit of the phone number under each, did not put and color in the matching digit on the pad. Check for correct repeat &amp; after a parent/dad put correctly, if correct. If not for some, if correct. Marked in the box here to match the location of the square on the page with the matching square on the phone (pattern recognition dialing). Practice together, as needed.  Use your phone number in instructions, if you wish	✓	✓	✓	*	✗

Parental Review: "What an absolutely brilliant idea! This fantastic book is a necessary and available book for anyone who loves a child. Being 'There' is every parent's greatest comfort knowing any adverse situation will be out of the recipient of this book!" - Nami Makoev, Chechnya "It's not about work, it's a career. My 4-year-old daughter was not interested in learning until she read this book. She was calling her parents to FINALLY learn her numbers because she LOVES COMMUNICATING. Now all I need is a better handwriting class!" - Cynthia Pines, FL "You having it for me kids!" - Susan Pivari, REA, MA Thank you, Elke, for creating such a fun and educational tool for children. I can't believe how such a simple concept as a child's phone book can be so useful. Aside from the obvious number recognition and dialing skills, children are exercising their visual attention and memory skills and creating a tangible record of their growing social circle. The I Can Dial Kids! Phonebook also meets children's need to be connected to the adult world through conversation and phone book of their own and by being given hold the skills and confidence to make phone calls for the adults in their life. Children glow with pride when being so and using this AMAZING book. I recommend it to parents, grandparents, aunts and uncles, teachers and day care workers." - Amanda Kennedy, Early Childhood Educator, Mom of 3, Montpelier, VT Your comments: I received your comment about the book. ## BRANDING:

Branding pricing options include 5 hours of labour including client coordination time. Additional hours are charged out at $90/hour. Possible customizations include adding a "brought to you by" message on the title page, customizing the yellow-box message, replacing colouring page images with copyright-free .jpg images you provide (note: changing images on the front and dial pages is substantially more complicated and would require more time), adding the brander's name to the page footers, and using a customized message on the back page. Modifications are possible in a wide variety of ways provided the values on the branding and the author's values align, as ultimately decided by the author alone. If you have any questions about whether your proposed changes align with the author's values, please contact her before purchasing the product.
